It's What's Inside That Matters Most

According to a survey by the American Lung Association, people spend an average of 65%-80% of their time AT HOME.

The average human takes approximately 20 breaths a minute, that equals approximately 30,000 breaths. That means almost 19,500 breaths are taken at home!

Residential air filters must be replaced at least every 90 days, according to the EPA and your AC system manufacturer.
